

Dear Lord Carnarvon,

I'm Howard Carter a British egyptologist, the reason I wrote this letter is because I would like you to fund my dig in the Valley of the kings. I hope you that you read my letter and realise that there are thousands of artefacts in there. Don't you want to be so wealthy that your bags of cash would explode?

I've already found some priceless, aged artefacts with Tutankhamun's name on them. But I still know there are more out there. With you working with me, we could be the dream team. How would it feel if you could learn more about ancient Egypt on the way?

We don't know much about ancient Egyptians. If you join me you can have the opportunity of discovering such an important building from back in the day. Wouldn't you like your name to go down in history?

It's just a favour. I would be really grateful if you reply to my letter and fund my dig to find the one and only Tutankhamun.

Yours

Faithfully,

Howard Carter.
