Weekly Briefing

Welcome back to the final half term of the year! Hopefully summer is finally here, and we have so many exciting events planned this half term. It gets really busy in school so please do look out for all of those communications regarding any end of term trips, visitors, residentials, discos and much more.

Next week we have our PSA Summer Fayre to look forward to. Please do come and stay after school on Friday as there is so much going on. We will have various stalls, a BBQ, refreshments, bouncy castles and a giant slide, performances from choir and Southwell dance school, animals from White Post Farm and even the opportunity to see some of your favourite teachers (and head teacher) in the stocks!! Please bring plenty of change as most stalls will be cash only, thank you.

Thank you to all who have donated various things so far for tombola and raffles. We are still taking donations so if you have anything please drop it into the school office. Bottle sand chocolate are very much appreciated for these tombolas. Also, if you have anytime at all on Friday afternoon to help with the setting up of this event or helping with class stalls, then we would greatly appreciate it. Either let the PSA know directly or let the office or I know, and we will certainly be in touch.

Have a great weekend Enjoy the sunshine ☀️

Best wishes, Louise Carpenter and lean not on your own understanding;

in all your ways submit to him,
and he will make your paths straight.
